

Daily Living Aids for Dementia Patients

Thermo Series

Designed for patients who need extra time to finish meals. This range ensures that food will be kept cold or warm to the last spoonful.

Vital Series

This range is specifically designed for dementia patients as the white base and red rim offers colour contrast when eating. Features a sloped base to make it easier to eat without tilting.

Maddak Tableware

This range allows those who have difficulty with self feeding to do so. The inside lip keeps food from sliding off the plate and helps push food onto the utensil. The red colour adds depth perception and colour contrast so patients can see their food.

Non-Slip Place Mats

Coated with special material on the top and bottom so they are guaranteed to hold crockery in place while eating. Used by dementia patients as they are bright in colour so show contrast at the dinner table.

Safe Sip

Spill proof lid that fits almost all drinking devices. It is perfect for those that tend to spill their drinks at dinner time or need an aid to help them drink. Offers a range of colours so the cup or drink is easily visible.

Henro-tek Handy Cup

For those with coordination difficulties and reduced strength. The cup is transparent so users can see the contents clearly. Cups are slanted to assist with drinking and prevent spillage.

Sure Grip Bendable Cutlery

The metal ends can be bent to any angle to accommodate reduced range of motion when eating and to provide the greatest comfort. There is a comfortable ribbed grip that helps patients with a weak grip to hold the utensil securely.

Angled Spoon

The lightweight angled spoons are designed for people with impaired arm and hand mobility. The handles are oval to sit in the hand and allow a secure grip when eating.

Combination Cutlery

Combines a knife and a fork or a knife and a spoon into one unique utensil. Designed for use with one hand only, the handle is longer to permit a secure grip. The cutting edge is on the underside of the blade to prevent injury to corners of the mouth.

Thick Cutlery

This range has handles that are thicker than normal to allow users with an altered grip to better manage and grip. To make cutting easier the knife handle has a slope for the thumb to rest.

Thin Cutlery

This range has long thin handles to allow a comfortable grip. The long handles reduce the need to lift the arm as high with normal length cutlery. The underside is gently rounded to prevent point pressure.
